“ I have cried every single day since we heard the news. Angela and I were very close friends when we were in high school in Roswell. My father, O.B. Hunnicutt, was pastoring the Church of God there, and that's where we met. I can honestly say that throughout the years I have never met anyone else like her. She was ALWAYS smiling and talking. We laughed constantly when we spent time together; we talked about anything and everything. When I met my future husband, she became good friends with him as well. She loved everybody; I never heard her say anything bad about anyone. She shared her medical problems with me, and I was amazed she never lost hope, she never gave up. She was an inspiration in every way. She was such fun. I loved being with her, especially when she spent the night. Did we sleep? Very little. Oh, Angela! I cannot express my pain. Nothing has ever hurt like this, but I know you would be scolding me now because I am crying. Again. Rest in God's peace, Angela. I'll see you soon. Mike, thank you for loving her and making her happy. I send my sincerest condolences to each member of her family. You have lost a treasure. May God comfort you with His precious Holy Spirit
