“ I met Armando through my business, but he soon became a friend. I enjoyed hearing his hunting stories. He always had a smile in his face. I'll miss you Armando.

“ Armando was one of the coolest vatos from Midway. One of the original Midway Dusters, who knows, he may have been the founder. His matte black Chevy Nova was recognizable instantly because he brought the Lowrider man off of the pages of the magazine to his back window. Many days were spent in the garage at the house Gregorio built. I grew up with Armando and his family. He will be truly missed. My most sincere condolences for all of his family and loved ones. Thanks for the good times, brother. You all made growing up in that dusty town a lot easier for me. Rest Easy and have a peaceful journey 🙏
