“ Royce was one of the last true Cowboys. He said what he meant and meant what he said. He knew that ranch inside and out. He was honorable and a gentleman. I will miss our encounters on the ranch and at What A Burger in Roswell. The world is a better place because of Royce Griggs. My sympathy to the family.

Royce got up early every morning,. He walked tall and talked strong. He knew where every cow was at in the 122 pastures. He had the feel for the pulse of the land. He had seen many droughts come and go. He knew exactly how the manage his herd. He was a cowman with a P. H. D.

Royce was truly one of a kind. Cowboy, businessman, and friend but also a fine representative of stockmen everywhere. He stood for what all of us in agriculture should believe in, honesty, pride and faith. Our prayers are with the family.

“ Royce Griggs was one of the finest men I have ever had the opportunity to know, and I do not expect to meet many more of his equals. He was smart, sharp-witted, kind, courteous and one of the last great American Cowboys. When I was with him in the presence of any lady, I was well aware of my shortcomings manners-wise. He was always the most polite man to any lady to which he was introduced. I already miss him and am stunned at our sudden loss. He was a great deal sharper than me, and he never embarrassed me by pointing it out...A truly great man.

“ I was very sad & shocked when I received phone call late Wednesday letting me know of Royce passing. Royce had been one of closest friends talking at least every couple of weeks, often stopping on my way to El Paso for quick visit. Every time we ended a conversation he'd always said “ if I can ever help you in any way let me know.” I never has to ask him but I know that if I ever needed anything he meant what he said, he'd do it. Over the years we did a lot of business; Royce was a man of high character., his handshake always consummated the deal. I only wish I'd had one more visit to listen to one of stories. Royce was truly one of kind.
