“ I only really got to know Uncle Dale within the past few years. He was a unique man and always had a story to tell. I'll miss him, but am glad he is finally free from the pain he had in his last years.

“ DEAR BROTHERS

When one of our loved ones dies and passes on, we tend to mourn their passing. Often we think that our mourning is for that loved one. But it is not, or rather should not be, for that loved one.

That loved one is, hopefully, in Heaven ~ a far better place than this earthly realm, and therefore we should not weep for that person; we should rejoice that he has passed from this earthly realm of hardship and woe to a Heaven of eternal peace and joy.

I will miss my brother as a piece of us has died. I shall forever keep him in my heart and thoughts. I loved you Dale. Joe “ Dale was an interesting person. Hard to get along with most of the time. He loved his brothers and sisters and their families, but never really knew how to show that love. We would talk for hours about mining, desert plants and what he believed in. We did not always agree, but manage to get along. I will miss him, his stories and his outlook on life.

“ What can I say about Uncle Dale? He was a great person, he always knew how to make my mom and I laugh when we saw him. I am sad that he has gone, but at the same time I am glad that he has gone to a better place. I pray that God has led him home. I love you Dale!
