“ My Eli... I'm going to miss you so much. I know that this is part of life but it doesn't make it easier one bit. I was your middle school crush that you chased . I remember when I first ran into at the nursing home after all the years that had passed. You became a part of my family . You were my wing when I was in the hospital battling for my life and so many times you said the most comforting words to help be get through. I was right next door to you room . I remember calling u every meal to see what you got. I always prayed we would get to do things together one day again. But God had other plans for you. You were one of my true dearest friends that I had . I don't know who I'm going to call when I need someone to talk to now. My heart is so broken and I'm still in disbelief that your gone. I love u so much and will always keep you alive in spirit. May God bless all of your family with strength and comfort during this time and be with them. I know there will never be suck an amazing person I will across like you. Your free now .. watch over all of us my friend

“ My brother was the most caring and loving soul anyone could come across. I miss him dearly. He always reminded me to put my self first and would be the shoulder I needed to cry on at any time. If you knew my brother online I just wanna take a second to say thank you. My brother talked fondly of all his friends and how much fun he had playing and talking <3 I love you with all my heart Eli.
