On April 17, 1943, Mando was born to Leopoldo and Dolores "Lola" Carrillo in Roswell, NM, where he graduated from high school. He continued his education and received a Bachelor of Business Degree. Mando was the beloved husband of Rebecca Montoya, whom he married on February 4, 1978, in Roswell, New Mexico. Prior to retirement, he was a Youth Counselor and Mental Health Technician at the Roswell Correctional Center. Mando enjoyed providing support services to others and also loved being involved in the Boy Scouts with the scouts, who also called him "Uncle Mando." These gifts of compassion are more than learned behaviors, and they were characteristics of his nature; his heart was for service, and his life was dedicated to being the best man for his family.

Mando loved to dance and listen to oldies; he was known as the “Big Bopper” because he was such a good dancer. Mando was a great father to his children and grandfather to his grandchildren and great-grandchildren. “Condolences to you Becky and the Carrillo family. I know that Mando is whistling and humming it up in heaven. He was always cool to me and struck me as "Mr. Smooth". Truly an ol skooler. It was nice seeing/meeting many of the family members and listening to all of the testimonials of all that spoke. Even though it hurt not all being able to go to the cemetery, I know that he is at peace. Peace be with you all and God Bless!
