Fabian was born February 16, 1993 in Roswell, NM, to Fabian Ward Sr. and Conya Brown, both of Roswell.

Fabian is loved by all that knew him, most his friends and family knew him by "Fatboii". Fatboii enjoyed fishing, camping, video games, and playing football. He played football as a teenager for Berrendo Middle School in Roswell. Fatboii grew up to love The Dallas Cowboys and spent his Sundays with friends and family watching the Cowboys play. Fabian was very kind hearted and loving, he loved making everyone around him laugh, from a joke to a prank or just right out being silly. You could not be around him sad because it would not last to long, he would find a way to bring a smile on your face. Family was a priority to him, raised with his grandparents but so very close to his mother and father. Fabian made a point to visit his mother, father, GMA, Papa, brother and sisters, tia and tios, and his primos and primas from both sides of his family, on regular basis. There was Never a day he would see someone he knew and not give them a hug or shake their hand, he always made sure to say “I Love You or I love ya’ll” before he left. All his family he loved to pieces and would be there in a heartbeat if you needed him to be, even if it was at five in the morning, and you called or text him, he was there, That is the kind of love he had for you. With that being said, at this moment he would tell you “Don’t cry, I’m in a better place now; I am with my son Brandon. I love you all, please take care of my son, Fabian and keep my name alive”.

Fabian was preceded in death by his babies, and son, Brandon Ward, and sister, Mikala Landers.
