“ Javier, I just thought Id tell you a couple of memories I have of your father. The first time I went to your house on a sunday and he was cooking outside on the disco, and he gave me a tortilla and told me to get some asado, and when I started eating it I think it was the hottest thing I had ever eaten at the time. I must have turned a very bright shade of red. He started laughing and asking me what was wrong, and I couldnt really say anything. Then he kept telling me mas mas and Id say no and he'd start laughing!!

I also remember when I first started driving a truck he told me to never drive too fast.He said just take your time,and that everything would be ok. I always kept that in my mind when I was far away and trying to get home.

I just thought I'd share those with you. Your Father,and your family will always be part of my memories growing up in Dexter.

My thoughts and prayers are with you and your family, if I can do anything please let me know.
