“ *I had the fortune of meeting Georgia, maybe not under the best circumstances, while caring for her as a home health nurse, and although I was there only for a short time and "tortured" her while changing her dressings, she always kept a smile and an understanding demeanor; she and her husband were always very nice and liked to joke. It was sad for me to learn that she had gone to meet the Lord, so I can just imagine how hard it must be for her family and friends, who knew her better than I, and shared so many moments with her.
I pray that God will give you strength to bear this pain. My most sincere condolences.*
