“ Johnny.....I had a friend remind me the other day of how we met over a lotto ticket.....but the best thing that came from that lotto ticket was our daughter Alycia. I promise u Johnny that I will take good care of her and be the best mom I can be. As u look down upon her u will be proud of her! I know u loved ur kids more than anything Johnny and Alycia loved u just as much. Even tho now I am heartbroken because Alycia lost her daddy and I lost my friend I would never give up the time we had. We'll miss u Johnny more than words can say.....until we meet again RIP

“ My thoughts and prayers go to the family of Johnny Dominguez. I went to high school with johhny and considered him a good friend. The last time i spoke with him was a few months ago when he instant messaged me on facebook. It was then that he asked me how I was doing? I had just finalized my divorce and was still feeling the affects. He told me it was ok to feel sad but that there were plenty of fish out in the sea. When he told me that he was sick and dying of cancer, my heart ached. He told me that he was going to fight it with all his might and wasn't going to give up easy. I told him that I was proud to be his friend and that his courage and determination was inspiring. I will never forget u Johnny D. You were simply to good to be bound on this earth. Even though my heart aches for your passing and loved ones, I rejoice in the face that you are at rest...R.I.P Johnny D. tu compa Chuey
