“ With loving thoughts of all and special hugs to Julie--your dad was the cadet that Herman looked up to the most in the '50s when they were in school together, and he was our son Shaun's favorite instructor at NMMI in the '80s. Shaun is still working on the Commandant's staff. I'm always grateful for your grandmother Ruby's kindness and help when I was a young tactical officer's wife on the old Post. And your friendship has always been a joy to me. From our family to yours, remembering your father, Pam McArthur, Herman, Shaun, and Misty

“ We so much appreciated Saki and his work on the 50th especially. He certainly personified NMMI through his military career and his support of our alma mater. We were certainly surprised to learn of his passing and we express our sympathy to his family. Though we didn't have a lot of personal contact through the years we now treasure the times we did get together. We will miss Saki. We pray you will be comforted by our Lord. Don & June...

“ I was privileged to have been a classmate and friend of Sake. I remember him as a cheerful and friendly person who possessed a great sense of humor. I have thought of him from time to time over the years since graduation. I am aware of the substantial contributions made by him to NMMI. My condolences and best wished to his family.

“ Joe was one of the first faculty members who befriended me when I started teaching at NMMI in August 1981. My classroom was directly across the hall from Joe's on the second deck of Wilson Hall. I was teaching technical drawing and my classroom was quiet. Joe could easily be heard from across the hall so I told my class to listen to him and get credit for two courses. Joe was a great patriot. I last spoke to Joe 4/20/04 after reading his book West Point of the West. He touched many lives and it was an honor to know him. He will be greatly missed.

“ My fondest memories of Saki will be the funhouse he created for my brother and I every year we visited Ruby, Joe, Cathy and Saki. He was crazy, lovable, kind and a young man that I admired very much. Keeping in touch with him this last year was another special connection. I share his love of the military, America and family. He will be missed.

“ Dear Nancy and Family:
Please accept my prayers and condolences. I have lost a life-long friend. You have lost much more. Saki was a great man and a great father. He was integral to all that is good at NMMI.
Please give Ruby, my other mother, my love.
God bless all,
