“ Karen was such a good care-giver to my Grandmother. She helped her alot. When we would take pictures she would get us all to laughing she would make funny faces. Karen and I had a secret word that was between us to describe people who were not always kind. It would help us to smile. When I did not feel well, Karen knew what to do. When someone was rude and I would get upset, Karen would tell me to walk away and help me calm down. She was one of my best friends. When Karen would talk on the phone and i would be very tired I would fall asleep on the phone to Karen, she would start laughing and I could hear her laughing and then both of us would laugh. She would say I better go to bed and we both say " I love You". I am going to miss her.
