Basil and Jessie Barnett; by his Maternal Grandparents, Archie and Georgia Sartin and his Paternal Grandparents, Levi and Lottie Barnett and by several Aunts and Uncles. Lee Roy attended Hagerman Schools, excelling in Basketball and in Track & Field Events, primarily Shot-Put. He was an Eagle Scout, played Coronet in the Hagerman Band and was a top student in Shop. He graduated in 1961. He obtained an Associates degree from Oklahoma State Tech in Okmulgee, OK in Automotive Repair and then returned to Hagerman where he worked with his dad as a mechanic for several years. Lee Roy also had a shop of his own in Dexter for a short time before moving his family to Otter Rock, Oregon. In Newport, Oregon, he worked for Sims-Allen Ford, an automotive dealership, first as a mechanic and then as their shop foreman. Lee Roy was a Certified Master Mechanic. He later owned Newport Transmission where his daughter Priscilla worked with him. Lee Roy took flying lessons and earned his Pilot's License. While building a home on the Oregon Coast, he outfitted the two car garage so that he could mechanic at home. After moving back to New Mexico, he continued to work on vehicles as well as doing fine woodworking and metalwork, making gifts that he shared with family as well as many friends. Lee Roy enjoyed most everything associated with automobiles. While in high school he built a truck and very successfully drag-raced with it. He later restored a 1949 Ford pickup and proudly drove it for many years. While in Oregon, he was associated with stock car racing, helping numerous friends with their cars and enjoying all the races. You could always count on Lee Roy to give you the latest facts and figures about Nascar, automobiles and many other subjects. The children of Lee Roy would like to thank Sammy Price and Jimmy Herring for all their love and support of our Dad.
