Lois was a loving wife and mother, born on December 12, 1937, to Walter Dashley McPherson and Carol Edith Greiss in Roswell, New Mexico. She met Lynn James Danielson, the love of her life, at a square dance with friends. Their love blossomed, leading to a marriage in Brooklyn, Michigan, which lasted 57 years. She was a proud mother to Scott Walter, Philip James and Edie Irene.

Even though she learned shorthand dictation and typed 217 words a minute, she left her secretary skills behind to become an outstanding registered nurse in May of 1979 at ENMU-Roswell. She loved working in Pediatrics.

Lois loved creating through sewing, painting, stained glass making, ceramics, crocheting, and more. She also loved fishing, traveling, and snow-machining. She even got the courage to become a pilot. They lived in many places but loved living in New Mexico and Alaska.

Lois's greatest joy was her faith. She chose to join the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, where her love for God and Jesus Christ flourished. She dedicated her time to studying and researching her family history, a testament to her unwavering faith.

Lois joins her parents and husband in heaven.

She is survived by her sister, Virginia Brock; brother, Robert McPherson; three children; grandchildren; and great-grandchildren. Lois loved her family.

Lois' tribute was lovingly written by her family.
