On September 22, 1941, Lupe was born to Mercedes Cortez Garcia and Manuel Garcia in Eddy County. Lupe was a hard worker all her life. As a teenager, she worked at a little store in the Cottonwood area. She was a member of the Daughters of Mary at Our Lady of Grace Catholic Church. Lupe married the love of her life, Frederico (Lico) Hernandez on May 9, 1961, and their witnesses were Eliodoro B. Hernandez and Nell Phillips. On April 4, 1964, they sealed that bond with a church service at Our Lady of Grace Church in Artesia, NM, joined by Jose and Maria Galvan as their witnesses. In the late 1960's, Lupe was appointed director of the Home Education Livelihood Program (H.E.L.P.) as the only Hispanic woman to be appointed as a director of this program. This appointment was a huge step for Hispanic women during those years. She was in charge of three sites, Cottonwood, Hagerman and Atoka. Lupe was highly respected by the men that she supervised, including the board which consisted of farmers within the Hagerman, Cottonwood, and Atoka areas. Her directorship duties included procurement of sites in training the farm workers or migrants in trades or crafts that could be used to earn additional monies than that of the farm laborer. New housing was also a part of that program helping people who could not have otherwise been able to afford a new home.

Singing was one of many things Lupe loved, and she had a beautiful voice. Even on those last days, her sister Mary was able to get her to sing a little tune. She also had glamour about her, always having the latest hairdos and fashions, along with great looking jewelry. One niece states that her tia reminded her of Elizabeth Taylor as she would glide along the floor when she walked across.

A very active member of the Moose lodge in Artesia, Lupe would recruit people, including her children, nieces, and nephews to work their annual Halloween carnival. She was also involved in helping with the Christmas party for children. As a member, she attended conferences in Philadelphia and Las Vegas.

Along with her husband, Frederico, Lupe is also survived by her children: Celestino Hernandez and wife, Loraine; Rosie Garcia and husband, Luis; Lola Muniz and husband, Doug; Sylvia Hernandez, Anthony Lara; eleven grandkids; twenty great-grandkids; a special goddaughter, Renee Hernandez-Scott, who she was very close to; four sisters: Esther Rodriguez and husband, Willie; Elma Samora; Mary Padilla and husband, Frank; Estella Flores and husband, Albert; one brother, Alfred Garcia; and numerous nieces and nephews.

Preceding Lupe in death were her parents: Manuel and Mercedes Garcia; three nephews; and a brother-in-law.

Those chosen as Honorary pallbearers are: Jessie Olivas Jr., Devon Olivas, Emilio Garcia, Angel Natera and Jared Hernandez.

Pallbearers will be: Anthony Garcia, Louis Garcia, Matthew Hernandez, Cilio Hernandez, Fred Olivas, Jessie Olivas and Anthony Lara IV.

This tribute was lovingly written in honor of Lupe by her family.
