On June 8, 1967, Maximino Salazar Barraza, also known as Max, was born to Joaquin Barraza and Catalina Salazar in La Gallega, Inde Durango, Mexico. During Max's teenage years, he played in the La Gallega volleyball team and won a championship. He enjoyed working on his family's cattle ranch, riding horses, and farming. In 1985, Max moved to Roswell, New Mexico. Later, he married Rebecca, helped raise her two kids, Jaime and Catalina, and had one son, Orlando. Max worked in the cattle and dairy industry for about twenty years and then worked for Sweatt Construction Company for almost fifteen years until he was medically retired. Max had a great sense of humor and was always laughing and joking with everyone. He worked hard to provide for his family, working long hours seven days a week. Max was proud of his Mexican heritage but also proud when he became a U.S. resident. He loved listening to Mexican music; you could always hear his music coming from his truck blocks away. He enjoyed spending time with his family and friends. Max was a good and generous man; he will be missed by many.

Those left to treasure his memory are his life partner, Rebecca Barraza; children: Jaime Gonzales and spouse Ginger, Catalina Cruz, and Orlando Barraza; grandchildren: Ebony Gonzales, Emilio Bustos, Ethan Rivera, Abigail Cruz, Daniel Barraza, and Max Barraza; brothers: Brijido Barraza, Valente Barraza, Juan Barraza, and Rogelio Barraza.

Max is preceded in death by his father, Joaquin Barraza; mother, Catalina Salazar; brothers: Porfirio Barraza, Rafael Barraza, and Mario Barraza.

Honored to serve as pallbearers are Jaime Gonzales, Orlando Barraza, Jacob Rodriguez, Edgar Navarrete, Zahid Navarrete, and Ricardo Rios.

Max's tribute was lovingly written by his family.

“ Popi, I'm sad to hear the news of your passing but I do hope that you are safe and pain free now. I know you haven't met the woman I am now but know the same little girl that used to walk on your back and loved you dearly is still here and will miss you dearly... time is a thief and I'm sorry I wasn't there for most of it but I never stopped thinking about you and everyone. Rest in peace popi
