“ My uncle Vic was such a kind person always in high spirits happy laughing I have only good memories about him he would make us breakfast some mornings and watch over the house when my dad wasn't working just always there to help he was always joyful to see me and my brother I was young once my mom had a centipede on her when she was hanging up pictures she screamed we were all scared being little kids seeing my mom scared he ran in and killed it for us and saved the day funny lil moments like that as I got older he lost his sight and I hadn't spoke to him in a while after his wife died he came into my work and he just knew it was me helping him before I told him he said Mandy is that you? And I said yes we talked he gave me a big hug even then he was so positive despite his struggle with no vision I will always remember that day God bless my uncle Vic
