Wesley was my oldest brother a prankster Lego lived to fool me his youngest sister. He introduced me to the ice tray stuck to my tongue trick and talked me into piercing an egg that sat in the sun all day where a hen had laid an egg in the pasture. The egg was rotten sewed all over me as soon as I tapped the egg. I can smell it today the stench of the rotten egg. Wesley also had a live for homing pigeons that he had as a teen and young adult. I like the memorial written for that personifies Wesley's character.
